

Pyramid Builders

Specializing in highly detailed custom building, Pyramid has a long track record of delivering exquisitely crafted homes

Bret Anderson founded Pyramid Builders in 1986 with the mission to create custom homes of extreme quality. He envisioned a process-driven company of talented individuals that would provide clients with the best possible methods, materials and craftsmanship. Over the past 25 years, Pyramid has built remarkable homes in both waterfront and urban settings, relying on experienced teams who collaborate from the early planning stages through construction and completion. "Our highly skilled craftsmen are experts in their fields," says Anderson. "And our well-defined process is designed to produce predictable outcomes." An in-house team of almost 50 artisans and building professionals, along with experienced project managers, shepherds every project from drawing board to completion.

The company's extensive experience overcoming a wide range of complex building challenges has enabled Pyramid to develop a host of proven, cost-effective engineering solutions. Pyramid collaborates with many of the top architects, interior designers and landscape architects in the region. "It is our belief that the best results are achieved when client, architect and builder function as a team," says Anderson.

The company engages in a limited number of custom homes at any given time. "This approach allows us to anticipate and understand each others' needs in the process of providing the best level of service to our clients," Anderson explains.

Pyramid Builders places an emphasis on exceeding clients' expectations and delivering exceptional service through integrity, accountability and a positive attitude. "We have grown to be large enough to efficiently build expansive estate homes," says Anderson, "but we stay small enough to maintain a personal relationship with each client."

"It takes unrelenting dedication to personalization to build at this level... and that dedication is rewarded with highly satisfied clients."

Pyramid Builders has developed an impressive portfolio of one-of-a-kind homes in a wide variety of styles. This new three level home relates well to the family's lifestyle and its waterfront setting. The front elevation captures expansive views of a major river, and the rear presents picturesque views of a quiet creek. The owners envisioned abundant windows with views from every room. The main house is connected to a separate wing by an arched bridge. Cedar siding and roof, painted paneling and bright trim complement a rubble-stone water table that anchors the home in its surroundings, set on a shoreline planted with native Chesapeake species.
